

OFFICIAL.

GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 167.

War Department, Adjutant-General's Office, Washington, August 15, 1862.

Officers of the regular army will, as a general rule, receive leave of absence to accept the rank of Colonel in volunteer regiments, but not lower grades. Non-commissioned officers and privates will be discharged on receiving commissions in volunteer regiments.

The oath of allegiance will not be administered to any man against his own will; it must be in all cases a voluntary act on his part. Nor will any compulsory parole of honor be received. But oaths taken, and paroles given, to avoid arrest, detention, imprisonment, or expulsion, are voluntary, and are not to be regarded as compulsory. All persons guilty of violating such oaths or paroles will be punished according to the laws and usages of war.

III. The laws of the United States and the general laws of war, authorize, in certain cases, the seizure and conversion of private property for the subsistence, transportation, and other uses of the army; but this must be distinguished from pillage; and the taking of property for public purposes is very different from its conversion to private use. All property lawfully taken from the enemy, or from the inhabitants of an enemy's country, instantly becomes public property, and must be accounted for as such. The 33d Article of War authorizes the penalty of death for pillage or plundering, and other articles of property, such as arms, accoutrements, or waste military stores, or who shall permit the waste or misapplication of any public property. The penalty is the same whether the offense be committed in our own or in an enemy's territory.

IV. All property, public or private, taken from an enemy, must be inventoried and duly accounted for. If the property taken is claimed as private, receipt must be given to such claimant or their agents. Officers will be held strictly accountable for all property taken by them or by their authority, and if not returned for their use as any other public property.

V. Where forwarding parties are sent out for provisions or other supplies, the commanding officer of each party will be held accountable for the conduct of his command, and will make a true report of all expenses.

VI. No officer or soldier will, without authority, leave his colors or ranks, to take private property, or to enter a private house, or to do any other act which is punishable with death, and an officer who permits them is equally as guilty as the actual offender.

VII. Commanding officers of armies and corps will be held responsible for the execution of these orders in their respective commands.

By command of Major General Halleck, General-in-Chief of the Army.

E. L. FOWLER, D. Assistant Adjutant General.

Head-Quarters, Department of North Carolina, New Bern, Nov. 29, 1862.

SPECIAL ORDER, NO. 163.

Rev. James Means, is hereby appointed Superintendent of all the Blacks in this Department. The chiefs of the different Departments having blacks under their charge, will report to him; and he will be obeyed and respected in all matters connected with the negroes in this command.

By command of Maj. Gen. J. G. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

In accordance with the above Order, all those who employ Blacks in the public service in this Department will report to me, monthly, their names, employment, number of days work, with dates, and amount of pay, beginning with the 1st of the month. James Means, Superintendent of New Street.

JOHN MEANS, Superintendent of New Street.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Dec. 10, 1862.

An export duty of five cents per hundred pounds, and on all naval stores, and on all wood and lumber, shipped from any port in this Department will be charged from this date.

Masters of vessels, any of the articles of the above named, must exhibit their freight list to the several Chief Quarter-Masters, at these ports, before they can obtain any certificate of clearance.

The amounts due for the duty, will be paid to said Quarter-Masters, or in their absence to the Provost Marshal, at the several ports.

All orders heretofore issued in relation to export duties, are annulled, by order of Maj. Gen. Foster.

By order of Gov. Edward Stanly, DANIEL MESSINGER, Provost Marshal.

Particular Notice. On and after this date all persons are forbidden to bring to this city for sale, any Tar, Pitch, Rosin, Turpentine, Cotton, or any other article, which is not permitted to the owners thereof, which permit must be countersigned by the Provost Marshal, who is appointed to receive and issue such permits.

The owners of said articles are loyal. And all traders are hereby enjoined not to purchase or sell any of the above articles in violation of this notice.

By command of Gov. Edward Stanly, DANIEL MESSINGER, Provost Marshal.

Head-Quarters, Department of North Carolina, New Bern, Sept. 12, 1862.

After the 15th day of September, 1862, all clerks in each of the Department Offices will be allowed to commute their rations at 75 cents per day.

All other detailed men will, after that date, either draw their rations or commute them at the cost of the ration at this post.

Each detailed man will be allowed one cent cash as cook, whose pay will be eight dollars per month.

By command of Maj. Gen. J. G. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

THE NEWBORN PROGRESS.

A NEWSPAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

VOLUME 5. NEWBORN, N. C., SATURDAY, JANUARY 24, 1863. NUMBER 94.

OFFICIAL.

HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Oct. 15, 1862.

GENERAL ORDERS NO. 49.

All officers, men and citizens are strictly forbidden to go on board of any of the steamers arriving at this port by means of boats or otherwise, until the vessel properly secures to the wharf.

The Provost Marshal will see that this order is implicitly obeyed and that no one except persons connected with these Headquarters and with the office of Capt. Slaght, A. Q. M., will be allowed to go on board under any pretext whatever.

By command of Maj. Gen. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

Circular Order. HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Oct. 15, 1862.

The great and unnecessary waste of gas in the quarters occupied by the officers and men of this command, calls for immediate attention and correction.

The expense of making gas, is, of course, large, and paid, mainly, by the Government.

Soldiers in quarters, are subject to the same rules as to lights, as if in camp, and Company Commanders will see that they are strictly carried out.

Officers are enjoined to see that the little waste as possible takes place, in their respective quarters.

By command of Maj. Gen. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Sept. 24, 1862.

SPECIAL ORDERS, NO. 54.

Captain Daniel Messinger, A. Q. M., is hereby ordered to investigate and examine into the shipments from this point of cotton, &c., since the occupation of New Bern by our forces.

He will endeavor to discover who have shipped, and how, cotton, &c., to the U. S. Government, and all officers of the army will afford Capt. Messinger every facility in the discharge of this duty.

By command of Maj. Gen. Foster, JOHN F. ANDERSON, Lieut. and Acting Asst. Adj. Gen.

HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Sept. 16, 1862.

SPECIAL ORDERS, NO. 38.

The firing of cannon or musketry at this port for practice, is hereby discontinued except by special order from these Headquarters.

By command of Maj. Gen. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, New Bern, Aug. 34, 1862.

GENERAL ORDERS, NO. 8.

All Vessels are forbidden to leave any port in this Department and take any person, of color, who did not arrive on the vessel, or who has not a pass from the general or other officer commanding, or from the Military Governor.

All vessels of every description violating this order will be liable to confiscation and her master will be severely punished.

No vessel shall have any port in this Department until the master shall take an oath that he has not any such person on board and will not allow any such person to come on board.

It is the duty of the Harbor Master or other person thereto appointed to read a copy of this order to each vessel, and to see that the oath above mentioned has been taken.

It is the duty of the master of every vessel to make a written report, during every voyage of the names of every person on board said vessel during said voyage, except the crew, in a list, and to forward said report, called for by the Provost Marshal or other officer authorized to receive it.

By command of Maj. Gen. J. G. Foster, SOUTHWARD HOFFMAN, Asst. Adj. Gen.

HEAD-QUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF N. C., New Bern, June 12, 1862.

Dr. J. G. Tull, is hereby appointed City Inspector of New Bern, with power to inspect and regulate all public houses, and to be obeyed and respected accordingly.

By command of Gov. Stanly, J. LYMAN VAN BUREN, Military Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF NORTH CAROLINA, QUARTERMASTER'S DEPARTMENT, New Bern, Sept. 26, 1862.

Special Notice to Companies quarters in town. The gas must be turned off from all the Company quarters at the proper hour for the extinguishing of lights, and but one light will be used in the hall during the night, and that turned off at midnight.

2. Company officers will see that this order is carried out, and that all diligence is used in economy of gas.

OFFICIAL.

PROVOST MARCHAL'S OFFICE, New Bern, Jan. 12, 1863.

The duties of the sentinel in the streets at night laid down in the Army Regulations, will be preserved and observed within the limits of their beats, and no person is to be admitted, or to be admitted, without proper authority, no citizen armed or unarmed; and that no soldier passes his post without a pass from the Colonel of his regiment; that no sailor passes his post with a pass from the captain of his ship, and that, after dark, neither soldier nor sailor be allowed to pass.

Every soldier or sailor found in the streets after dark, will be arrested, the Sergeant of the guard called, and the offender handed over to him, to be conveyed to the Guard House. All disorderly persons at any time, will be arrested and handed over to the Sergeant of the Guard.

In case of any disorderly or riotous persons refusing to obey the orders of the sentinel, the sentinel shall use his arms, if the offender cannot be secured in any other way. To resist or assault a sentinel, is one of the greatest offenses, and will subject the offender to severe punishment.

Commissioned Officers do not require a pass, but no one will be received into the city without his uniform, and the shoulder straps, which indicate his rank. Gold lace on the sleeve of a naval officer is an evidence of rank and is not to be worn.

No officer of the Guard of Sentinel has authority to release from arrest any Prisoner of the Provost Guard. The Provost Marshal, or other officer in charge of Prisoners will be held responsible for any escapes.

No person shall be allowed to sell or give, or to be counterfeited by the commanding officer of his regiment or vessel. Any soldier or sailor without his uniform, or without a pass, will be arrested and confined in the Guard House.

No person is allowed to sell spirituous liquors to soldiers, sailors or negroes, upon any pretext, what ever. An attempt to evade this order will be treated with the same severity as an open violation of it.

No person shall be allowed to sell or give, or to be counterfeited by the commanding officer of his regiment or vessel. Any soldier or sailor without his uniform, or without a pass, will be arrested and confined in the Guard House.

No person shall be allowed to sell or give, or to be counterfeited by the commanding officer of his regiment or vessel. Any soldier or sailor without his uniform, or without a pass, will be arrested and confined in the Guard House.

A New Yankee Doodle.

By J. A. GILMORE.

Yankee Doodle came to town To view the "situation," And found the world all upside down, A rumpus in the nation;

He heard all Europe laugh at scorn, And call him but a noodle; "Laugh on," he cried, "as sure 's you're born, I'll still an Yankee Doodle!"

He found the ragged Southern loons A-training like tarantulas; They'd stolen all his silver spoons And rifled his plantations;

"But I wait with 'em as quietly as I said: 'They may restore the plunder, But if they don't, I'll go ahead And thrash them well, by thunder!"

And then the lovely Queen of Spain Told him, in a hushed lingo, That she had courted—not in vain— An eviler foe than I!

"My dear," said he, "if you will roam With all the male creation, Pray don't come here; I can't, at home, Allow amangment!"

The British lion slyly eyed His bales of Southern cotton; "That stuff is a slave begotten, A brother's tears have bleached it white; It speaks your degradation; But I must have it, wrong or right, To keep a store in the city of New Bern."

"Hands off! hands off! good cousin John!" Said quiet Yankee Doodle; "I am no bragging cotton don, Who'll beat the system feudal, I've heard your prate in Exeter Hall Of sin and slave pollution; But I have half a notion— You love the institution!"

"False words and deeds, to high and low Bring righteous retribution, And, cousin John, mayhap you know The frigate Constitution! She is now but a rotten boat, But I have half a notion— You love the institution!"

"I trust in God and in the right, And in this mighty nation, The whole combined creation, For when, in Time's impartial gaze, The nations are reviewed 'all, I know the mead of honest prairie Will rest on my own banner!"

The Richmond "Whig" on the War. The Richmond Whig of the 23d inst. thinks the Federal campaigns in Virginia and North Carolina are over for the winter, and takes the following view of the future in the South and Southwest:

"Looking along the coast it is to be expected that a determined effort will now be made to retrieve on water something of the prestige they have lost on land. Charleston, Savannah and Mobile should be immediately ready for assault at any moment. The enemy know the advantage they have in the powerful armament and iron shields of their navy. They imagine that the capture of the well known cities we have named will give them not only substantial advantages here, but great moral advantages, which are about completed, and the exigencies of their situation impel them to make an instant and desperate effort. We cannot foresee the result. We believe these cities will be defended with a valor and obstinacy that will give them a glorious name in history, and that, if they fall, as they have a right to expect, the enemy will take only heaps of ruins. But we fervently pray that they may be able to beat back the destroyer, and preserve themselves alike from the glorious fate of self-destruction, and the ignominious fate of passing under the yoke of Yankee domination."

From Tennessee the intelligence is favorable. Rosecrans delays his advance; but the accounts from that direction assure us that he will soon be forced to fight, retreat, or be shut up and besieged in Nashville. He has now a Confederate General opposed to him who is patient under delays, and who will not suffer himself and the winter quietly in the capital of Tennessee.

From Mississippi, if we must credit an Augusta contemporary, there is nothing encouraging. The contest there is enveloped in doubt and gloom. Without plucking credit in the Northern accounts, which claim for their forces the possession of Grenada, it is evident that we have lost much ground, and that our army has been forced back many miles since the battle of Corinth. The Confederate army there is far inferior in number to what is generally supposed. It has received very scanty reinforcements, for the army of Hindman's having crossed the Mississippi with forty thousand men was shamelessly bogus, while to the Federal army a continuous stream of men has been pouring from the Northwest to replenish its ranks. The multitudes which are to be hurled on our handful of heroes there are not yet fully ready to move; when their preparations are completed, the Western army will be in the possession of the great valley of the Mississippi—a contest which, we fear, will be hopeless unless our forces are brought by reinforcements to something nearer equality with those of the enemy. The advent of President Davis, who has declared his intention to share the fortunes of the Western army, will force a new spirit into the army, and arouse the population into more energetic action; and the prospect, in Mississippi, is less cheerful than in any other part of the vast field of war."
